About:

Butte County is at the front lines of climate change. No longer a problem of the distant future, it is knocking at the door. The Camp Fire served as a wake-up call, not only for the community of Paradise but for the entire world. Action is needed and it must originate at the community level.

This workshop offers an experiential exploration of climate change; its causes and applicable community-based solutions. Attendees will have the opportunity to learn about ecosystems restoration and voice their ideas for climate adaptation strategies in their community.

Presenters:

Camp Fire Restoration Project: Demonstrating regenerative community, inspiring our new human story.

CivicSpark Fellows : Building capacity for local governments to address emerging environmental and social equity resilience challenges such as climate change, water resource management, affordable housing, and mobility.
